Alma Bradley Matthews Parker was born on June 2, 1910 in St. Joseph, Louisiana to Louise Wynn and Alfred Bradley. She lived a long and active life and was responsible for taking care of her family while migrating to Flint from the South and actively making it possible for her siblings to follow her to the North for gainful employment. This is significant because she was the first of 12 children to come to Flint.

She was a hard worker and always accepted overtime to generate more money to not only take care of her lifestyle, but to ensure that there was enough money to give to family members to improve their lives. Mrs. Parker loved her family and demonstrated that love by cooking scrumptious meals and providing financial resources, gifts and wisdom to her beloved family. 'She believed in financial independence and was known for being a "workaholic." Mrs. Parker's good deeds for many, truly highlights the legacy she now leaves the Bradley Family.

As a young girl, Mrs. Parker stayed close to her father working along side him in the fields and was often compared to working "just as hard as any boy in the field." During this time period, she did not do any housekeeping or cooking, and her siblings called her "bossy." In total there were 12 children in the Bradley family. "Also in her younger years, she attended school in Greenville, MS and stayed with her father's sister during this time. However when home and while growing up, she was the only one at that time allowed to drive the car to do errands for the family.

She was a lady with flair and always had a set of clothing for any occasion, and was also known for her famous dinner parties. After inviting her guests over for a meal, she would be quick to tell them, "Well, baby you don't have to stay, you can go now." This was often met with surprise because people were never ready to leave due to the great food and hospitality. She eagerly welcomed people into her home, but was equally glad to usher them out.

Mrs. Parker dutifully and regularly visited her relatives to check in on them but was never one to stay long. Often she would leave a family party, go home to take a nap and then change clothes and go back to the party. Her visits were always short in duration. She never, ever stayed in one place too long.

Being a pacesetter was always the way she lived. She is known for integrating Ottawa Hills in Grand Blanc. Back in the late 60's, she was forced to sell her home on Brookside Drive due to the development of the I-69 expressway project. At that time, it was not possible for a person of color to purchase a home in Ottawa Hills, so she worked the system and gave her friend Audrey cash for the home. Audrey purchased the home and quit claim deeded it back and the rest is history. Mrs. Parker met a great deal of resistance as she moved into Ottawa Hills, but she endured and weathered the storm, therefore paving the way for other persons of color to move into that subdivision.

As a former member of Canaan Baptist Church, she believed in service to others yet always took good care of herself by regularly exercising, as she would take walks in her neighborhood subdivision.

Mrs. Parker is survived by a huge host of family members including the niece for whom she raised as a daughter, Mary Edith Christina Johnson, Flint, MI; 1 brother, Lenn (Edith) Bradley, Flint, MI; 2 sisters Jean Roberson and Jessie Ruth McNeeley, both of Flint, MI., 2 sisters-in-laws Tina Bradley and Lucy Lockett; and a host of nieces, nephews and other relatives and friends, including special friends Ann and Tommie Gist.

Preceding her in death were parents; 2 husbands, Jack Matthews and Leroy Parker; 4 sisters, Rose Buchanan, Willa Mae Fryer, Mary Kate Quinn, Johnnie Harris and 4 brothers Alfred., Clinton, Thomas and Louis Bradley.

A special sentiment of gratitude is extended to both McFarlan Home and Heartland Home Care, as well as a great big round of applause to her sister Jean Roberson for leaving her home in Texas to provide care giving for nearly nine years.

In lieu of flowers, donations would be welcomed to The Foundation for Mott Community College in her memory.

“ Alma was my mother’s best friend, my godmother and an inspiration to our family. Her name means nourishing/nurturing and that is what she was to us. She was a strong independent woman long before it was chic to be so. In fact, she was the epitome of a Twenty-first Century woman in the Twentieth Century era.

She taught me to love being tall, to always walk with my head up and look people in the eye when you are doing business. She encouraged me to be fashionable yet frugal as well. Alma was always well dressed and beautifully coifed. She was forthright with her comments, but quick to compliment.

She was a blessing to know. And we shall live with her memory while she rests in the arms of our Lord

“ In passing, we know that Alma has been freed from every bond, every burden, and every limitation. And in this we rejoice. Knowing that grief never ends, but it changes. It's a passage, not a place to stay. May we offer, our heartfelt sympathy knowing that grief is not a sign of weakness, nor a lack of faith, it is the price of love. John and Ella Johnson
