“ Another beautiful little angel has gotten her wings, God called her home but he wasn't being mean. He blessed her family with her for four years, but the day he called her home,,, it brought them to tears. But family, please don't worry, for God has her close, and he knew you all loved her, but he loved her most. And keep in mind that your little angel is watching over you from Heaven in everyway, just waiting too see you again another day. May God blessed you all and cover you in his blood.
