slipped away into the next room. Nothing has happened. Everything remains exactly as it was. I am I, and you are you, and the old life that we lived so fondly together is unaltered, unchanged. Whatever we were to each other, that we are still. Call me by the old familiar name. Speak of me in the easy way which you always used. Put an affection into your tone. Wear no forced air of solemnity or sadness. Laugh as we always laughed at the little jokes that we enjoyed together. Play, walk, think of me, pray for me. Let my name be ever the household word that it always was. Let it be spoken without an effort, without the ghost of a shadow upon it. Life makes all that it ever meant. It is the same as it ever was. There is absolute and unshakable continuity. What is this death but a negligible accident? Why should I be sad because I am out of sight? I am but waiting for you, for an instant, somewhere near you. You missed the answer. Ask it now.
