“ Words can not explain how I feel right now. I feel so bad that yoy passed all alone. We didn't get a chance to say good bye. You taught me so much as I went through Nursing School. Our friendship will forever be in my thoughts, and in my heart. The conversations we had for hours on the phone will be missed. The only consolation I have is that the Word of God says. " To be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord." You have definitely earned your wings. May the Lord be with you , and your family at this time. You are already missed. Your friend & co worker.

Oh how I loved Beverly. A kind and gentle person, I enjoyed talking and sharing secrets with her. She was full of wisdom but never judgmental. We were alike with our shopping addiction to Bath and Body Works. I know you are walking, no leaping, on those streets of gold. No more pain from this world only witnessing the glory of God. I will forever miss you my friend.

“ My sympathy to the family of Mrs. Brumley. It can be hard to cope with the death of a loved one alone, but you can find comfort from Gods words in the bible. I would like to share some words of comfort with you from (Rev.21:3,4) from these words it give you the hope of a resurrection for our loved ones who sleeps in death.
