Mr. Clarence M. Coleman Jr. was born November 21, 1991 in Flint, Michigan, the son of Honny L. Williams and Clarence M. Coleman Sr. He was a resident of Flint and baptized at House of Prayer Missionary Baptist Church. Clarence attended Flint Southwestern High School and Mott Community College. He took pride in being a hard worker in which the majority of his work included light industrial positions. Clarence began playing basketball when he was a toddler, in which he continued to play until he graduated from high school and even joined a local men's league. Making music was his greatest passion and he always loved sharing his thoughts through music. "CJ" was interested in entrepreneurship and often brain stormed ideas for wealth building. More than anything, "CJ's" greatest moments on earth were with his children, Davion and Londyn as he cared for them daily. "CJ" was a charismatic gentleman with an extraordinary sense of humor as he would first light up the room with his smile followed by something comical that would cause laughter by those around.

“CJ” always seemed to be wise even as a child. If you were in his presence, it was a teachable moment. He made an impact on everyone he crossed paths with.

Mr. Clarence M. Coleman Jr. leaves to cherish his memory: fiancé and mother to his children, Keaira Brickey; daughter, Londyn Lashae Coleman; son, Davion Rashimere Coleman, all of Flint; parents, Honny L. Williams and Clarence M. Coleman Sr.; step-mother, Lawanna Dean; grandmothers, Lavern Nelson and Joyce Coleman; great-grandmother, Ora D.
