Clyde Wilton Lee Sr. "Papa Lee" was born October 12, 1935, in Texarkana, Texas. The son of Colonel Lee Sr. And Eliza Handley Lee.

Clyde "Papa" Lee Sr. moved to Flint when he was eight years old and went to Flint Public Schools. As an adult, he worked for General Motors and Chrysler, and he even opened his own Bump and Paint shop on Grand River Blvd. in Detroit, where he ran the business for over twenty years. For more than fifteen years, he began each day at 6 a.m. with prayer, a reflection of his deep faith and discipline.

Papa Lee started making music when he was in middle school. He began by playing the drums—first on his mother's pots and pans until his father bought him a real drum set! His brother, Billy Lee, joined in too. He became a drummer in the Elks youth marching band in Flint's St. John Street community. Later, he learned to play the harmonica, keyboard, and lead guitar.

In the 1960s, Papa Lee performed at the famous Paradise Club in Idlewild, Michigan. He recorded with big names from the 1970s, like the Detroit Emeralds and the Motown Review. In Detroit, he played at famous clubs like the Rusty Nail, and Nesters Club with Knoxy and the Willie George Band. He also spent time in Hamtramck with the Butler Twins. He also played on Sundays for several churches throughout the city of Detroit. Back in Flint, he played with the Jim Taylor Trio at the Motor City and the 50 Grand. He also played RG Club located on St. John Street. In the 1980s, he often performed at Shay Lake, a Black resort in southeast Michigan.

Papa Lee's musical career was full of amazing collaborations. He played with local legends like Sherwood Pea, Earl Hughes, John Lee Hooker, Bobo Jenkins, Washboard Willie, Chicago Pete, Eddie Burns, Calvin Frazier, Willie D. Warren, Mr. Bo, Little Mac Collins, Uncle Jessie White, and many others. He was also a regular performer at the Eastern Market in Detroit, the Flint Blues Festival, and the Detroit Public Library.

In 2010, he recorded "Papa Lee You Never Had the Blues", co-produced by Clyde Lee Jr. All the songs were written and performed by Papa Lee. The recording has four tracks—"Bin Laden Bin Laden," "You Never Had the Blues," "911," and "Bad Boy Blues"—featuring harmonica by Little Arthur, piano by Kevin Williams, bass by Walt Coleman, guitar by Gary Cales, drums by Earl Barron, saxophone by Jermi Lumpkin, and trumpet by Bruce Sechrest. Special guest Billie Davis sang on "Bad Boy Blues."

In 2015, for Black History Month, he was honored with a three-foot display at Elias Big Boys restaurant in Detroit. In his later years, Papa Lee and the Body Shop Blues Band often performed at nursing homes around Detroit, sharing music with the community. In 2018, Papa Lee was featured in the documentary “Paradise Boogie,” which celebrated Detroit’s early Blues musicians and the neighborhoods of Black Bottom and Paradise Valley that shaped the music. He was also involved with “Flint Tunes At Noon”, “Willie George Band” and “Choaker Campbell & The Super Sounds.”

Papa Lee also shared his love of music with his family. He gifted his instruments to his great-grandkids so they could carry on his musical legacy into the future.
