“ I have the honor of being Ms. Connie’s only child-in-law. I am her only son-in-law. Although my given name is Densmore, Ms. Connie always affectionately referred to me as “that Boy”. Of course, she knew my given name, but she had to give me a Connie-given name. In fact, my son shares my given name, but his Connie-given name is Buddha. I alone bore the name “that Boy”.
I can still hear Ms. Connie asking my wife, “where is that Boy”?
When she wanted to know where I was. When asked, who cooked you that food? Her response was, that Boy. My most proud memory occurred during our planning for my wife’s yearlong deployment to Iraq. At that time, Ms. Connie was asked, “which of your kids do you want to stay with until Cheryl returns. Connie’s response was resoundingly, That Boy! Ms. Connie herself had many family-given names herself. They include Mom, Granny, Great Granny, Auntie, Great Aunt, Sister, and Wife to name a few. I can honestly say that she loved all of these names and she worked her hardest to fulfill the expectations of those roles, while inspiring and expecting others to do the same. This includes me. I could always see the pride on her face whenever she was called by those names. As for me, When she said “that Boy”, I could always hear the trust, respect, and love she had for me in that simple name. I hope that she saw the pride on my face whenever I heard that term of endearment. Ms. Connie, I know that you are now using your new name as an Angel in heaven. I love you and I miss you. Love always, “That Boy”

“ I will always remember one of her favorite meals. McDonald quarter pounder medium fries and her favorite drink a Coca Cola. Always loved making her laugh. Was always a real genuine laugh. I pray she is at peace and for strength and love for her family and friends.
