“ Liz, I am so sorry that your beloved Charles was called home so soon. He was a truly beautiful human being and the two of you were an awesome couple. Your marriage was a shining example of the way God meant for a marriage to be. I am honored to have known Charles and blessed by having the two of you in my life. Your love and kindness will never be forgotten. We are each on this earth such a short time, but Heaven is eternal and I know when your time comes, Charles will be waiting to take your hand and lead you home. Until then, lean on us when you need to. Let the love from family and friends support you and give you strength. Let God's love for you give you comfort and peace until you are reunited once more with Charles and all the loved ones who have gone before us.

“ To the Clausell Family:

Dear Liz and family, we know that you are saddened by the death of Charles, and we are praying for you. A verse that seems to help me is a simple one although not biblical. It says;

*As the Lord in his abiding way,
understands your sorrow,
May he give you strength and comfort, to face each new tomorrow.*

May God Bless All of You.

“ Liz I thank God everyday that you and the kids are part of my family. Charles has always been a great and needed man in this family. Charles has been a strong rock and a Man of God. Remember Liz we have always been close but through this experience we have gotten more closer than I can every image so know it is time for you to lean on those people that really love and care for you. God will not leave you or forsaken you he will just make you stronger. Our wish is that this family continue to put God first and we can make it through the good time as well as the bad.

Love You Always
