“Cherese I as well as others may try to utter words of love and support at this time, but remember your strength comes from the Lord. And when the phone stops ringing and knocks at the door become few know He is always there for you. Trust Him because He and only He can lighten your burdens and heal your heart. Take care of Anthony as always.

“Indy, Cherese: My mind is confused and my heart is heavy. Even though I know what it feels like to loose a loved one, words fail me now. What words can express the shock such an event as death brings. "I'm sorry" and "my condolences" seem inadequate. But, I am sorry for your loss and hope you find strength in your higher power. With much love and deepest sympathy...Renee

“Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints”. Psalm 116:15

My heartfelt condolences to you Joyce, Hank, Shawn and family. Cherish, visit and share often the precious memories you have of Debra. We have shared some precious times in our early youth, I will always remember. Look to the Lord, He is your strength, today, tomorrow and forever more. Our prayers will be with you and for you in the days to come.

*Love

“ A wonderful woman indeed! My sister was the greatest sister that the Lord so blessed me with. As a child I remember admiring her beauty and style. As an adult, I admired her straightforwardness and unconditional love for all walks of life. If there was a child, or telephone in the room, she was there. I can't believe that my loving sister has left the earth realm, but I know that I will see her in heaven when I get there. Big sister, here's love to you! Your sister, Shawn....

“ I am still really at a loss for words. I just can't believe that you're gone. I want you to call me and ask me what I'm cooking today. I wish I could hear you tell me like you always told me, everything will be ok. I miss you. But my peace must come in knowing that you are now free from pain and I will get to see you again one day.
