“ Please forgive my lateness.

My name is Gail Davis and I worked with Demetri at Eastside Medical Center. I was in education and he was one of the instructors for CPI - non violent crisis prevention - teaching the staff in the ED, ICU, and Behavioral Health.

I was just the “stuff doer” - records, books, etc. I knew when he taught by the laughter and his booming voice 😊

When Piedmont bought the hospital, we had to change out teaching materials and both of us agreed to be train the trainers. During that training, I was paired with him. As you can well imagine it was intimidating to me!

In one instance, I was to defuse the situation as he kept coming toward me asking loudly where his wife was!!!! I was supposed to be backing toward the door to seek help but instead ended up with my back to the wall and him still loudly asking for her. I finally couldn't figure out what to do so looking down the row towards some of my other female trainees said “there she is” and pointed at one of them. Of course, I failed that part but he laughed so hard at me that tears were coming down both of our faces.

I will miss the classic glasses, hearty laughter and “bear hugs” he always had for me.

Thanks for sharing him with me and others. We were blessed to have known him.

“ I can't believe he's gone. We worked side by side in the ER. He always had my back and I can still hear his laugh. He loved to laugh and it was so full and loud and contagious. He will be missed dearly by all who knew him. Prayers to his family during this difficult time.
