I met Duane through my business. I was an ACDelco Distributor. I still have the ACDelco leather jacket he gave to me. He always took care of my company. If he was not there ACDelco would have let me go years before. If Duane had been there it would never have happened. We played golf together many times over the years in different states. My heart goes out to his family.

“ My sincerest condolences to the Miller family. I am so grateful for his visible example of excellence as a business and community leader. This example has forever impacted my life and the life of my children. A simple game like basketball afforded me the opportunity to know the Miller family and ultimately resulted in paying my way through school and has landed me as an executive at P&G. None of this happens without Mr. Miller's investment in me. Thank you. It's a simple phrase but none other can express my sincerest gratitude. May you rest in Glory knowing that we all are equipped to carry your legacy forward.

“ I worked with Duane at GM Service Parts. He was a terrific fellow and colleague, truly a force to be reckoned with on the job. Knew the business but was fair in his dealings with others. A devoted family man, and very much given to giving back to the community. I loved his wit, and the twinkle in his eyes when he smiled. He was a joy to know, and to learn from. John Smith

“ I met Duane very early in my career at General Motors. I was a recent college graduate and Duane was already on a very fast track to upper management. Even then, despite the steep curve he would rapidly climb, Duane took the time, energy and effort to mentor a young kid from Detroit's east side.

Over the next forty plus years, I would continue to regard Duane as a leader, mentor and most importantly, a dear friend. I was truly blessed to have Duane in my life. Rest in peace, my friend!

To Diane and the entire Miller family, Shirley and I offer our most heartfelt sympathy!

“ I was fortunate to work with Duane in the community, he loved his hometown of Flint and he and Diane worked and gave generously to the community. As many have attested, he was generous with his advice, all you had to do is listen. I'm so thankful for the many calls he took, the questions he fielded, the questions he asked of me that made me better, he was truly a leader, a teacher, a mentor, a friend, and blessing. Duane led by example outside his home, but home was where his heart was, and I send my sincerest condolences to his family who will miss his daily presence, smile, laugh, advice, and love. Thank God for a legacy of a life well lived, and memories to last forever.

“ Duane Miller was a great man and his passing greatly saddens me. I am so sorry for his family’s loss.

I first met Duane at a GM training facility where we chatted in an empty classroom. Duane headed up a plus-billion-dollar GM division called AC Delco and I was sure I could help him. We talked for over an hour and I walked away shaking my head ... knowing that this man’s brilliance, intuition, common-sense, and sense of humanity made me feel small. Compared to Duane, I was a gnat.

Rather than be intimidated by Duane, I decided to make him a friend and learn what I could. We became very close. Much of the time I simply observed this marvel of a human being. His knowledge of GM’s businesses was prodigious. This, coupled with his appetite for change and innovation, made him incredibly unique.

We talked all the time back then. We dived deep into our weaknesses; perhaps for different reasons. Duane was my hero and was beyond me – I have a thing about arrogance, and it would have been incredibly arrogant for me to project myself as an equal to Duane Miller.

Duane taught me a lot about family – so much so that when I finally slowed down, I reverted my attention back to my family and became somewhat of a hermit. Diane was his goddess, and his gorgeous children were his finest accomplishments. He shared his loves, and his guilts, with me over dinners and odd moments. We talked about life.

When working with Duane I frequently stayed with him and Diane at their house. This was an incredible act of kindness that I still reflect upon almost daily. Why me? Pondering this over the decades provided the ultimate answer of who Duane Miller really was. A profoundly good man.

Love to all his family,
