“ My love I'm going to miss the Facetime calls and you asking about Troy and Chantale and the grandbabies, you loved them as your own. I'm going to miss seeing you when I come home to visit. You were such an amazing man, and you loved your kids. We had some much fun together. I never once heard you complain about your health or your pain. You were such a fighter and no matter what you were going through you never showed it. We would take family trips and attend all the kids' games. I'll cherish all the memories we made together. You would end each phone call and visit by saying "I love you and you are ALWAYS my wife!" I love you baby, and this is a hard one to deal with.
