Mrs. Eddie Bell Hunter-Yearby was born on October 20, 1929 in Blytheville, Arkansas, the daughter of Leon Jackson, Sr., and Essie D. Taylor. She received Christ at an early age and was a member of Family Baptist Church. Eddie Bell Jackson was united in Holy Matrimony to Clifton R. Hunter, Sr., and to this union two daughters and four sons were born. Momma loved her children and grandchildren, traveling, praising the Lord, especially quoting the scripture Galatians 6:7, fishing, cooking, dancing, and writing songs; from the years of 1957-1964, Momma wrote two published songs for Five Star Music Masters ("The Assassination of Kennedy Was A Sad Day" & "Nagging Woman") and one for Crown Music Company ("Darling I Need You So"). Eddie Bell graduated from Central High School and completed her education at Mott Community College, receiving her Certified Nursing Assistant License in 1977. Later, she was hired at Chateau Gardens and was employed as a C.N.A. for 15 years. It was during this time she met and married Henry W. Yearby. She leaves to cherish her loving memory: her husband, Henry W. Yearby; 2 daughters, Kathryn M. Hunter-Williams, Darlene (Emery) Davis; 4
