“ I loved my grand mother for her kindness, when most people would have said something rude, my grand mother would just pray. I wish I could have known her why she was alive as detailed as this obituary. I couldn't make the funeral because I would of got fired from my job for lying about why I needed time off work the week before she passed. Also I was homeless at the time. She looking out for me from above just like the rest of my family, that's how I survived and now own an over priced house in Jefferson city MO. My name is Evan Miller and if you read this and you know me keep the same energy you shameful BASMFs
