“ I have known Geneva Robinson all of my life and she was just like another mother to me. She was a beautiful woman inside and out and her main focus in life was her family. She always wanted the best for her girls and strived to give them the better things in life. She was a good role model for me and I am honored to have known her. She was not materialistic, or obsessed with obtaining material things like so many other women today. She was a good, honest and caring person. I hope her family appreciated her and I am sure she will be greatly missed. RIP.
