George Kevin Nealy Jr. was born December 13, 1959 in Manhattan, New York to George and Betty Ruth (Reid) Nealy. Kevin as most known grew up in Flint, Michigan and later with his parents and siblings moved to Mt. Morris, Michigan. While attending Beecher High School he won many awards in one of his favorite sports, wrestling. After graduating high school, he studied Business and accounting at Mott Community College and chose a career in sales. Kevin was a man of integrity, strength and rich character. He loves his family and friends deeply and they love him even more. His life was centered around his faith in the Lord and savior Jesus Christ. His church base was Harris Temple Church of God in Christ under the jurisdiction of Superintendent T.R Harris. Kevin's faith and spiritually was strong. No matter what, he kept a connection with the Lord. The Lord gives us all gifts and talents, Kevin's was music. He knew as a young boy of his gifts. After meeting the legendary music artist, Stevie Wonder as a child he was even more inspired to pursue his passion as a musician and music artist. His instruments of choice were keyboards and bass guitar. In the music world he was known as “Balentino”, his mostly known song, “Call Me Anytime.” His passion for music was without falter. He worked tirelessly on his music and was in the process of completing an album before he was called home to the Lord. George Kevin Nealy Jr. married his beautiful bride Eve Burress, they raised their four amazing children whom he leaves his love and memories; James, Kenneth, Kaleb and Jazmyn Eve. The light of his life were his grandchildren Makaila Burress, Janelle Burress, James Burress Jr. and Brendon Burress; His three sisters who adore him, Shirelle (Kurt) Atkins, Sherrie Ruth Nealy, Crystal (Niguel) Williams; nephews and nieces who cherish him, nephews, Lafayette Wilson, Niguel S. Williams Jr. and Christopher B. Williams; nieces, Nyla (Jacquan) Jones, Nia Ruth Atkins, nephew, Harrison G.W. Williams; great-nephews, Jace Averin and Legend Anthony Jones, great-niece, Layla Rose Alyssa Jones; great-nephews, Amir Legacy Atkins-Johnson, Kason Ray Wilson and Knight Ignatious Wilson; a host of family and friends. George is preceded by his wife Eve Nealy, parents George and Betty Nealy.

“ Hi Family, our big brother has now gone home to his eternal abode. I am so glad our paths on this life's journey crossed. We were teased by him (typical brother) when we were young but grew into a great friendship that felt more like family. We both shared a love for music and talked for hours about it. He was there for my brother, Reginald Spencer Moore (Reggie) when he struggled to regain his ability to play the guitar after having a stroke. He was there when my father and when my brother later passed from this walk of life to support and encourage me through those difficult times. We were Facebook friends which allowed me to become familiar with his family by picture. It is quite apparent that he was a good and loving father who was loved by his children, family, and friends, deeply.

Please know that Kevin will be missed and not forgotten. Also, though there are miles between us, Time has not distanced my heart from the Nealy family; Shirelle, Sherrie, and Crystal. May each of you be encouraged by the God who is the God of all comfort and grow to trust Him more. I love you!

Sincerely, Rita (Moore) Cooper.
