Jarvis Jerrell Jones was born August 19, 1983 in Flint, Michigan, the son of Natalie Jones and Gregory Nelson. Jarvis was raised in Flint and baptized at the age of 7. He attended Flint Community Schools and received his GED. Jarvis also attended Mott Community College and Baker College while studying Business Administration. He worked in the automotive industry in various positions for several years. Jarvis loved reading and watching movies. He really enjoyed classic movies and had quite the collection. But his greatest passion was music which began in the school band. At the age of 15, Jarvis began playing the drums at Rock Missionary Baptist Church where he continued until his passing. It was also at this age, that Jarvis began crafting his rap talent by creating beats for various aspiring rap artists in the area. "J

Jones” won several talent contests at a young age for his rap talent. He along with his brother and cousins branded the “Pogress” label for his music. Jarvis also directed the Male Choir at the Rock Missionary Baptist Church, and was involved in mentoring the young men at Rock. He loved to cook and often created his own dishes. Jarvis also loved people and had a charming personality that drew others. His most precious moments were spent with his children, Carmen and Jaylin. He was a “Big Uncle” to his niece and nephews as well.
