“ I met Joe Many years ago through a mutual friend. Our meeting was as though we had known each other for many of years. In fact, after a few months, I started calling him Brother Joe. Brother Joe and I started doing many ventures together. Though Bro. Joe was not there in the beginning when I started the annual Mothers' Day Blues Festival in Laurel, MS., he convinced me to share the riches with him on this annual event since he have been on several loosing ventures. Though the last few years Bro. Joe could not make the trip to Mississippi I kept him abreast of how things when. And mailed or carried his winnings to him in Flint.

The week of this death I called Joe that Friday or Saturday on his cellular and house phone and both when straight to his voice mail. He never returned my call and I told my wife Bro. Joe have not returned my call. I told her, that was unusual of him not to return my call. I was hoping he was not in the hospital without me knowing about it. The following Monday I received a call that Bro Joe had passed away sometime over the weekend at home.

It is with a heavy heart now when I think of my friend who is truly missed by me and others, I know that one day we will see each other again on the other side, and I will again be able to talk to my Brother Joe.
