“ It doesn't matter if some of us are no longer here, we will always be brothers and sisters. Death can separate us physically for a season but we will be reconnected one day because of God's promise of everlasting life. I love my brothers forever and ever and ever!

“ My deepest condolences to the Bowman family. Though I did not know Mr. Bowman personally, as the old saying goes, you can tell a lot about a tree by the fruit it bares. Keisha is God fearing & smart because of her father's upbringing. During this time I encourage you all to look to the hills for which all of your help comes and to hold on to the loving memories of Mr. Bowman. "Blessed are this who mourn for they shall be comforted." Matthew 5:4

“ My dad, Slim was the quintessential coolest cat of every year. So it is hard for some to believe that he babysat his 4 children while my husband and I were working. They (Majia, Koryn, Josh, and Jordan) all have several extremely hilarious stories that will keep "Big Daddy Joe" in their hearts and on their minds forever. I'll miss my birthday calls and discussing politics with him.

“ My condolences to the Bowman family during their time of bereavement. Death can be devastating, but you can find comfort from the scriptures knowing that there will be a resurrection as stated in (Acts:24 :14) so you have the hope of seeing that loved one again. So sorry for your loss.
