Raised in Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Kenny’s early years were filled with laughter and adventure, ultimately leading him to Flint, Michigan in 1980. He completed his education at Northwestern High School, where he forged friendships that would last a lifetime. Following his graduation, Kenny proudly enlisted in the United States Air Force, serving for three years. Kenny Bo was not just known for his professional endeavors; he was a passionate individual with diverse interests. He had a deep love for racing cars and was an avid supporter of the Michigan Wolverines football and basketball teams. “ *Always laughing and telling jokes is what I remembered about Kenny Bo. Back in the 90's, Kenny Bo was my DJ at my wedding reception (recommended by his sister, Lisa). I kept wondering why he was playing the same song over and over again "Freak How You Want It" by Kilo Ali. Until he told me at the end (you know I ain't no real DJ and I don't know what the hell I was doing in his voice). Boy oh Boy....did we laugh at that. He wore a white suit and everything like he was really about to jam LOL LOL....I think in return he just wanted a pack of cigarettes hahahaha.
