“ I don't even know the words to say. I got the news being overseas on a ship and I can't express or begin to display how painful it was to hear you gone big bro. I've known you basically since I have been alive. And reading G Harris' post yea I remember being in class with you too. I mean I was thinking about when you broke your arm in the second grade and you struggling to write with your other hand in class. Man we done had some times and being away as I have I want you to know that I have missed you big bro, and I do miss you. You a real dude man. Never be another like you. May the powers above bless your family. I love you big bro.

Gone to Soon

Leroy's smile was bright enough to light up any room that he ever walked into. He Lifted your spirits regardless of what you were going through. It was also like sunshine, It brightened up everyone's day. When ever you needed someone to talk to, he knew just what to say. Another great one gone to soon.
