“ To Mamie Moore's Family: This woman was a very dear and special friend to me. We worked at Hurley together for years, but did not become close friends until she had actually retired. We did so many things together. We talked, we laughed, we rode around town, went on trips, I watched while she would work her yard and flowers, we went to lunch on numerous occasions, all during the time we were having our many disagreements. We never hardly agreed on anything. But it was all good, we agreed to disagree. She was one of my dearest friends. She often asked me why did I want a friend as old as she was, my reply was, "I didn't know there was an age limit on who could be friends". She loved her family, and talked about them often. She loved me too. The only consolation I will get from losing my friend is that I'm moving to No. Carolina, so I won't be here in Flint, and she won't either. Well now she won't win that argument either about who called who last, or why I haven't been over, lol. I loved her so much and will surely miss her. Praying for her entire family, and want you all to keep me in your prayers also, I broke down and cried when I saw my name on her obituary. Thanks for acknowledging me. RIH my dear friend, Emma Ivory
