“ Marcus u can't explain how much this has affected me.its like yesterday we were laughing, joking, messin with people. i know people couldn't stand us because we were always bothering them. (lol) All i remember is the good times we had, and thats all i want to remember. I remember when u broke my finger in the sixth grade, i was scared to tell cuz i thought u was goin to get in trouble. I miss you!! But just watch over me and Thank you again for helpin me make the right decision. I LOVE YOU MARCUS!

“ Marcus, Its crazy that you are gone because I just saw you. Man I ask god why did he take a good man off this earth, but I know when its your time its your time. I remember when my baby was scared of you but stopped not to long ago. And now she yells ya name out when she saw you. I LOVE you so much cousin I just cant believe you are gone. You are one of the coolest people I know. I am here for the family so if they need me to do anything I mean anything just ask and I will do it. And you know you are making me get a real hair cut and put my hat down for the day. Well I am about to go now, so sleep on little cousin and I will see you later. Love you Marcus

“Marcus, Marcus, Marcus...I'm sitting here trying to figure out what to say but I'm lost for words, WHY, My heart aches knowing that you are really gone, I just can't grasp the thought. You were my little brother, someone that I gave advise to, someone who had a smile that could melt your heart, someone that I Loved & I will deeply miss. I'm trying to find peace in knowing GOD makes no mistakes he said it was your time so you had to leave us behind full with sorrow, Please know you were loved and adored by so many, you will always hold a special place in my heart.

I Love you forever, you will never be forgotten.

My prayers are with your family & friends!

“May God keep you all at this time. I can remember tutoring Marcus when he was in elementary school. It was funny watching him grow up. When I would come back to town in the summer it never failed I would see him and his friends walking around the corner on those summer nights. He has a wonderful smile. May the memories of Marcus help you get through. The pain this had cause I am sure is unbearable at this moment but there is calm after the storm. The summers around the neighborhood will never be the same. May his memory live on.
