She was also responsible for raising her sister, Catherine's three children as her own, all who preceded her in death, Mildred Black, Patricia Black Salley and Jennifer "Wanda" Black Garlington. My Condolences Dana to your family from mine. This was a sad day today the home going of you and Daryl mother. I have known your mother and your family before I could write my name. And for sure she would have been a little disappointed that you weren't acknowledged for prayers and comfort because you were hurting as well. But I want you to take comfort in the fact that you were with your mother days before she passed you got a chance to say your goodbyes to her while life was still in her body. So hold your head high because your mother would have because that was who she was taking on challenges and she passed that on to you in her whispers as her Chapter in this life was closing. Y'all mother got her wings!! A straightening comb and some curling irons was given to her at the Gates so she had something to do as she walked around in heaven. So Dana as you go along with your day to day life ever hair that you press and every curl that you make know that your mom is working right there with you hand over hand. She always knew you would make it. In your beginning she was a business woman doing hair and at her ending her daughter is a business woman doing hair that was God gift. I pray that your family have peace with themselves because God gave you yours you had a Chance to tell her goodbye ❤️

“ Sincere prayers are sent to the family. May God comfort you all the days to come. Thanks be to the Lord for a wonderful woman of God. Mrs. Lewis always showed a motherly spirit while growing up on Detroit's west side. Our family has been connected for over 35 years while being close neighbors. Mrs. Lewis was heaven sent as she always had a kind word, advise or tough love when you needed it most. Thank you Ma'am for your unwavering love. 🙏
