“Marsha and her mom, Cheryl, met with me at my home after having a mutual friend tell Marsha I had survived stage 4 ovarian cancer after using an alternative method . In first meeting with them, my initial thought was how they we're both very beautiful, gracious women full of Gods light. I could see from the start that Cheryl would be a great support to her daughter no matter what God had in store for her.

Cheryl, I'd like you to know how deeply saddened I was to hear of Marsha's passing. I had text her a few times after our meeting but didn't get a response, I think she had gotten too ill. I was so touched in seeing your support of her- no one will ever know the battle that you two had faced together so bravely. It was not in vane and meant for a greater purpose that we may never fully realize. Sending you my deepest sympathy.

*Sincerely,
Nancy McLean Manser
