“ Bobbie and I grew up together as sisters although we were maternal first cousins. Our mothers were twins. She was my big sis. I looked up to her. She taught me so much. As a teenager she put makeup on my face and showed me how to dress. She had high style and exquisite tastes. We loved each other and had so much fun. We laughed hard. Bobbie and I confided in each other all our lives. I love her eternally! Rest in peace sweet angel.

“ May the work she done speak for her. She was a real mother to a disowned child. Ask me how I know, for I am one that she mold to be the man I am today. Thank God for her, and yes he (God) is still working on me.
