“ Granny I miss you so much. It has been 5 years and it has been hard. the only thing that has kept me sane is the fact that you are not suffering anymore. It still feels funny that you are not around. When I come over your house and go in your room it does not feel right that you are not in your room. You fought your condition until the end. You were a strong and Godly woman. You always acknowledge God and you were never ashamed of it. I feel the same way God is good and he should because acknowledged of his goodness. I know that you are happy smiling and sitting a Jesus feet. I know that we all have a day to go away from this place and I am prepared for whenever that day shall come. I love and until we meet again. RIP
