“ I do not know where to start. Maxine you know you are definitely going to be missed. Your laughter and your sense of humor I will miss and I am sure that Charles will also. I told you when I came to see you in the hospital that I needed you to come on back to help me keep this husband of mine in line. Charles said he will see you when he gets there because he knows that the "Lord is not through with him yet. For the family, she is in a better place. No more dialysis or ICU or nurses and doctors poking all the time. She can spread her wings and fly. I know she right along with a lot of other people close to me are walking around heaven all day. Hold on to the Lord's unchanging hand and you will see Maxine again one day. Just keep your faith and trust in the Lord and he will comfort you at this time. I feel comfortable when I say that Gethsemane Missionary Baptist Church has lost another soldier that was truly on the battlefield for the Lord. Rest in Peace sweet Maxine
