“ I appreciate every single thing you've done for me over the past 19 years of my life. Every role you played, every promise you kept, and the many times you showed just how much you loved me. I couldn't ask for anything more from you. Not a thing! I am very sad to know that you've gone on and that I won't see you again. I am even more sad to have not let you know just how sorry I really am for the many times I've let you down. But I hope before you left you knew in your heart that I loved you more than I do any other man on this Earth. I don't see how I can continue on knowing you are not here; I honestly don't know what to do. But I make this final promise that you will never be forgotten by me. You will continue to live and be an influence in my life. Once again, I love you Daddy! Please help me make it through.
