He was the beloved son of Jessie and Rosie Willis. Floyd graduated from Broad Street High School and soon after pursued a degree in auto mechanics at Coahoma Junior College. As years passed, he moved his family to Flint, Michigan, where he became known as a dedicated worker, contributing his skills in various manufacturing shops and as an auto mechanic, electrician and carpenter.

Floyd was truly a man of many talents. He loved playing dominoes with family and friends, but he was especially known for his prowess in Spades and Tonk, often leaving others both impressed and laughing. He also enjoyed watching his favorite television shows, movies and talking on his phone. He always made time to check in on his loved ones. Whenever someone asked how he was doing, he would respond, "I'm blessed and highly favored." Floyd's happiest moments were when his children, grandchildren, nephews, nieces and their friends gathered at his home, creating a warm and joyful family atmosphere. Even when he wasn't feeling his best, the presence of his family made him feel young at heart and inspired him to live fully.
