“ To be honest I'm not sure what to say or feel,
It feels like yesterday we were in the kitchen cooking fried chicken (trying to see who's chicken was crispier 🤔)
And now seeing you being driven away in a hearse 🥲
It was very surreal, I kept looking at it to see if it was real or was my mind playing tricks with me.
But when I saw you being lay to rest, all the special moments we had was running through my mind.
When I first arrived I was told to not look because it was going to be difficult for me to let go but I knew in my mind I had to see you one last time to cherish the moment we had. (I'll admit things wasn't always best and I knew I wasn't perfect)

But the best moments for me was you teaching me (pretty much everything ☐)
To mowing the lawn, to teaching me how to BBQ, Even when to you taught me a unique way on how to shoot basketball 🤔
I know deep down those moments will never come again 🥲. Which is why I will always cherish them. I still listen to your favorite songs to keep your memories

There are so many things that's running through my mind about the times we had. I can literally write a book about it. 🤔

But to this day I blame myself for not being there for you. Like you were for me
And I'm not sure if you would ever forgive me but just know you are in my thoughts.

Rest Easy Dad 🙏

“ To the Berry Family:

I was sorry to hear about the passing of your loved one. Death is liken to a thief that comes and takes away our love ones. Or due to old age and sickness we lose that precious quality of life that leads to death.

However, have you ever asked: Is death the end of it all? Or is there something else after death? The bible clears up any question we might have about death. It also shows that there is a real hope for persons who have faith.

*Yours truly,
Patricia*
