It is hard to remember Neffertiti as a grown woman, when I knew her as a child. It was an honor to have her in my 5th grade class. The effort she put into her writing was so impressive. The way she brighten up the classroom with her positive, no nonsense view of things was always amazing. To possess the views that she had as a child, I realized later, that it was because she was raised in the church by a woman with great wisdom. I know this is a difficult time for the family. God bless you.
