“ Brother Noble Jones was a friend to my parents and was one of the men I admired as a child growing up in Harrison Chapel Baptist Church (Antoine, AR). He was devout, gentle, thrifty, industrious, and humble. His determination to live beyond the limitations of poverty and racism in the Jim Crow South prompted him to join others who journeyed to Michigan to find better work and social conditions. May God bless Sister Linnell Jones, Jereline Thomas, and other family members as they celebrate Brother Noble's long life and death-proof faith in Jesus Christ.

“ Sorry to hear about the passing of our dear Uncle Noble. We will always remember his kindness to our family and his love for Christ. He showed us what true love is by showing his love for Aunt Linnell, and example for all of us to live by. We will also remember how he loved to fish and hunt. He loved this part of the country and visited us often until his health would not allow him to make that drive. May God keep his arms around Aunt Linnell and know that we all love you.
