Von, this is a time when losing your better half may seem that your left all by yourself. Just know that when you feel that emptiness God will step in on time to give you assurance that He'll be with you when you feel all alone...

Lavell, I know how much you loved & cared in words and in deeds to your Father. Though your a splitting image of him so much, remember the good times and it will help you through it all...

Alvin, many times I've known you to drive all across the roads, up and down the highway taking your Dad to your family gatherings. That's what Son's do when they know how awesome that made your Dad feel. God bless you...

Shay, the only lady of the sibling's, you must have been Daddy's girl. I know your grateful that your daughter got to be in her paw paw's life before God called him home. Those memories will be special for you in the years to come. May you keep those memories alive...

Malik, your the big guy, strong athlete, all around guy, never forget how your Dad enjoyed you in his life, and having your son made it even better for the both of you. Keep your head up, better day's will come. May you be the Dad that your Father showed you how to be, and better...

Grandchildren: We see you are the Apple of your paw paw's eye! The memories of you all around him was a life of joy. To watch each one of you do your different achievements in life. Remember he wanted the best for each of you, so don't quit, keep on striving for your goals. He really loved you all very much...
