“ Renée was an expert at table tennis, and competed throughout her youth in Bermuda, but then played for fun with family and friends. At age 76 she visited her son Lin in Scottsdale Arizona, and attended a game night social tournament event that featured table tennis. One player was dominating everyone, and someone suggested that Mrs Fleetwood should play. The player agreed, and as this little old lady took up the paddle, he served a soft easy ball to her, which she smashed away. He played more seriously, but when he smashed a ball that Renée smashed it right back, he said no one had ever smashed his smash before. Renée was able to hit winners from even below the table, and defend balls that just nicked the edge of the table. No one was able to defeat her even at her advanced age.
