“ Rosetta, Canena, Derrick, Lisa, and the ENTIRE Dent Family,

One Moment At A Time: Don't Fly Solo

Grief is inevitable. We all are touched by significant losses at some point in our lives. Don't try to walk through the dark periods alone but seek out a friend who can sit and listen. Talking about your grief is vital.

Don't disconnect. Talking with others can help you keep perspective and find support you need. Resist the temptation to retreat into your own private world.

God knows your pain. God knew that when death entered the world (Genesis 3), our lives would have seasons of difficulty. He experienced pain Himself through the sufferings of Christ. God can empathize with you. Share your pain with Him.

May God give you all the strength, patience, and understanding as you all go through the grieving process.

*With best regards,
