“ You were my very first First Cousin. I remember how you held my hand as we walked down the street, me looking at you thinking, she is so pretty with such pretty long hair. My first first cousin, your smile that lights up a room, your joyous laughter and your loving spirit...forever loved and missed.

“ Sabrina my beautiful sister. You are a piece of my heart that feels broken off. But i know God will repair it so I can remember all the FaceTimes, conversations and personal interactions over the many years. We thank God that he gave you the strength to battle that enemy in your body. I am in awe of how you navigated your health journey to be here for Shica, Dee and Sheena and their children. You, me, Stephanie and Fran are John Moore's daughters and we must remember the family times and the sister times! I will love you always and one day I will see you in the sky. “ God so loved the World. “
