“ We would like for you to remember probably the last happy times we shared. We were all at the graduation of Brian Johnson from law school in East Lansing. We were all there except we couldn't find you guys. We all knew that you, Billy and Sandra, were there. I couldn't rest or begin to enjoy the festivities of the graduation until I found you guys. I kept looking and looking throughout the field house until I finally spotted the Calloways. The whole gang was so pleased and we all waved until we got your attention. I can remember what Sandra had on and how she smiled when she spotted the group and joined us; all the family was in tact. It still is and will always be. I know your hearts are heavy and so are the hearts of George, Eraina and Alexzandria Poole. You will miss your wife and mother and we will miss her for you. Please know that her spirit and love will never fade but will forever be present and will continue to protect and guide. You have our deepest sympathy, The Poole Family.

Your family has been such a wonderful model on so many levels over the years. Sandra was a blessing. I will always remember her beautiful smile and warmth. She was always a welcoming force. She would light up a room with her presence. The world seems a little dimmer today.
