“ To the family of Shirley I send my deepest sorrow. Please rest assured that she is not suffering but resting until she is awoken in the resurrection according to the example of Jesus in the bible book of John the 11th chapter, verses 11:11-14,43. The foretold resurrection of Shirley and others is found also in John but the 5th chapter, verses 28 and 29. Please read these verses and receive the comfort that only God (Jehovah) can give. Joyce

“ When I met Shirley about 3-1/2 years ago, I knew then she was the strong silent type. She was a very good worker who was always willing to help wherever needed, she was there to do a job and she did it. When she came back to work during her illness, my first impression was confirmed, even though it was a struggle for her, she came to work and did her job to the best of her abilities. She never complained and had a very positive attitude which seemed to inspire her coworkers. She has already been missed at the Flint Processing and Distribution Facility and will remain forever in our hearts. At this time of sorrow may these truths sustain you... Shirley will always be as close as a memory and God will always be as close as a prayer.

“ I just so happened to be surfing the internet and I check the obituaries on this site every now and then since I am in Tennessee finishing school and such.

Iman,

I am SO sorry about your mother's passing. She was a nice lady, and it showed that she definitely loved you and your brother; a true dedicated and devoted mother. You and your brother will DEFINITELY be in my prayers.
