“ I am filled with sadness that words cannot describe, I called him Greg and he was a good man with love in his heart... he made his share of mistakes and paid a heavy price but in the end its love and forgiveness and friendship above all else,I see so much of him everyday in his son, we shared a special bond I was blessed enough to have his child and will spend the rest of my life making sure his son knows what a great man he was he was taken too soon not enough time to get things done too many words left unspoken the pain of this loss is tremendous!

“ I am at a total loss for words. My heart goes out to the family. I went to Jordan College with Stan. We dated for only a few months but he has always been in my heart and mind over the years. My mind doesn't want to believe that he is gone.
