“ I miss you so much right now it's unreal. you never complained about your illness you made every attempt to make sure you did everything you could. We haven't seen each other since before we had kids. Twenty plus years later we ran into each other at meijer in the pharmacy department, exchanged numbers, and picked up where we left off all those years later. I never met you girls but i would like to say to you that your mom was the most genuine person I've ever met and I'm sure she left some life instruction. I'm just sorry she can't physically be here to see what kind of women you turn out to become. but she will become your guardian angel.

“ I am so at a loss for words....and I am not going to say the typical BS....I know you werent ready to go.....but I understand we had no hand in that final decision.....the time and place had already been decided.....I was angry everytime I thought about you being in your house alone.....and then I thought, knowing Vanessa you probably didnt want to be bothered (smile). I will miss you forever....and the thought of forgetting you is unimaginable....really....who could ever forget you! Rest peacefully my friend...tell my brother I said "Hey"!!!!
